

Rail travel is a vital transportation option for rural communities. Ask any rural community leader whose citizens do without rail service, if those same citizens could use a better connection to medical treatment centers, universities, airports, shopping and family.

Mission:

To coordinate and connect with regional organizations and city, county and state governments who desire economic and job growth for their communities. To advocate for the reinstatement of passenger rail service in northern Oklahoma and Kansas. At the same time, these governments also understand the need for alternative transportation sources for their citizens.

Most FAQ about rail service:

Does Amtrak require an annual subsidy?

A: "Studies show that for every dollar spent on transportation, it ripples through the economy 4 times over." ~KDOT Secretary Lorenz during press conference in Newton, KS 2/4/2021. Yet, all forms require government subsidy.

"It's not a question of IF passenger rail makes money. It's a question of WHO passenger rail makes money FOR." ~Jim Matthews, CEO & President, RPA (MO River Runner 2021: $22M in tax revenues annually, $65M in labor income)

Why Oklahoma needs a Rail Caucus:

- Now more than ever, Oklahoma must pursue pathways to economic prosperity.
- Amtrak needs to know Oklahoma is serious about passenger rail.
- Through the Bi-Partisan Transportation bill, Congress has provided funding for state-supported corridor rail service. A Rail Caucus could help make sure we get our fair share.

After Oklahoma HR 1003, what's next for OK state legislators to do?

- Through communication and advocacy, State Legislators must make sure that the state of Oklahoma provides a match for federal funds that are available NOW!
- Legislators should commit to partnering with the Federal Railroad Administration and Amtrak to complete the Heartland Flyer Extension north to connect with the Southwest Chief in Newton, KS.

Amtrak desires to restore service to communities north of OKC to connect with the Southwest Chief. This fits directly into their new model of connecting city pairs.

What they need now is a dedicated group of legislators that will make sure that Oklahoma does its part to restore service.

Numerous studies by Universities in Texas and Kansas have determined the economic benefit of Amtrak's Heartland Flyer and its Extension to be at least 3 to 1 for every dollar spent.

So what benefits accrue to society when states have a passenger rail program?

Increased commerce and tourism.

Safe, convenient travel to school, work and home.

Attracting and keeping college students and young talent due to improved standard of living, convenience, affordable and ecologically friendly travel, etc.

Vibrant downtowns where there is a stop.

Increased local and state tax revenues.

Let's face it, it takes a village!

Our work runs the gamut, from promoting state and regional passenger rail plans and projects to influencing federal policy.
